

Crocodilian Husbandry & Conservation Workshop

ASZK & Reptile TAG - February 2027, Queensland, Australia

Dates: Friday 12th February - Sunday 14th February

Venue: Australia Zoo Education Room (All attendees meet at front of the Zoo each morning at 9 am to be escorted through the Main entrance)

Limited numbers apply to this workshop so register early to ensure you don't miss out.

The SMP Reptile TAG and the Australasian Society of Zookeeping (ASZK), together with Australia Zoo, will be hosting the upcoming Crocodilian Husbandry and Conservation Workshop, held at Australia Zoo, Queensland, Feb 12-14 2027.

The aims of this workshop are to increase our collective knowledge on the husbandry and conservation of crocodilians held in the region.

This workshop is open to staff from ZAA member institutions as well as researchers in the field. This specialist workshop will be engaging and valuable in expanding skills and expertise for a unique taxa in global decline. With an increased need for conservation intervention, animal care professionals are becoming increasingly important in bolstering and recovering wild populations of Crocodilians across the globe. In this way, workshop delegates are being provided an opportunity to submit presentation abstracts, together with experts in this field.

All proceeds from the workshop raised through an auction night and any other profits will be donated to the highly endangered Philippine Crocodile through the Mabuwaya Foundation to fund their critical conservation recovery work

Registration Costs:

Earlybird Registration prior to 8/12/26 is $390 and includes a complementary workshop t-shirt. These t-shirts will not be available after this date.
